FOREWORD

Living is the basis of all human nature but making it into an art takes something more than natural sources, it needs supernatural aid.

The principles that guide us on the path of right living are bestowed at Baptism and must be increased as we continue to grow.

If we want to learn the true art of living, we must first receive the true breath of life, which is God.

To really live, in the fullest sense of the word, we must live this precious gift of life God has given us in the manner in which He wishes us to live it, "All for the honor and glory of God."

The art of living involves the kind of person we wish to become, the mode of life we wish to follow, the ideas and actions we want to develope, the goals in life we wish to attain.

To develope the art of living we should try to widen our knowledge not only of the intellectual side of life, but of the spiritual as well.

We must use the talents God gives us in our art of living.

To live is to find our goal of eternal happiness and keep it a part of ourselves always.

The life of modern man is so permeated with a materialistic spirit that it seems impossible to enter into his soul.

Art is beauty and in any true beauty one can find truth but beauty "is only skin deep."

During the critical era of pseudo-ideals, living for our goal, eternal happiness, is, in itself, an art.

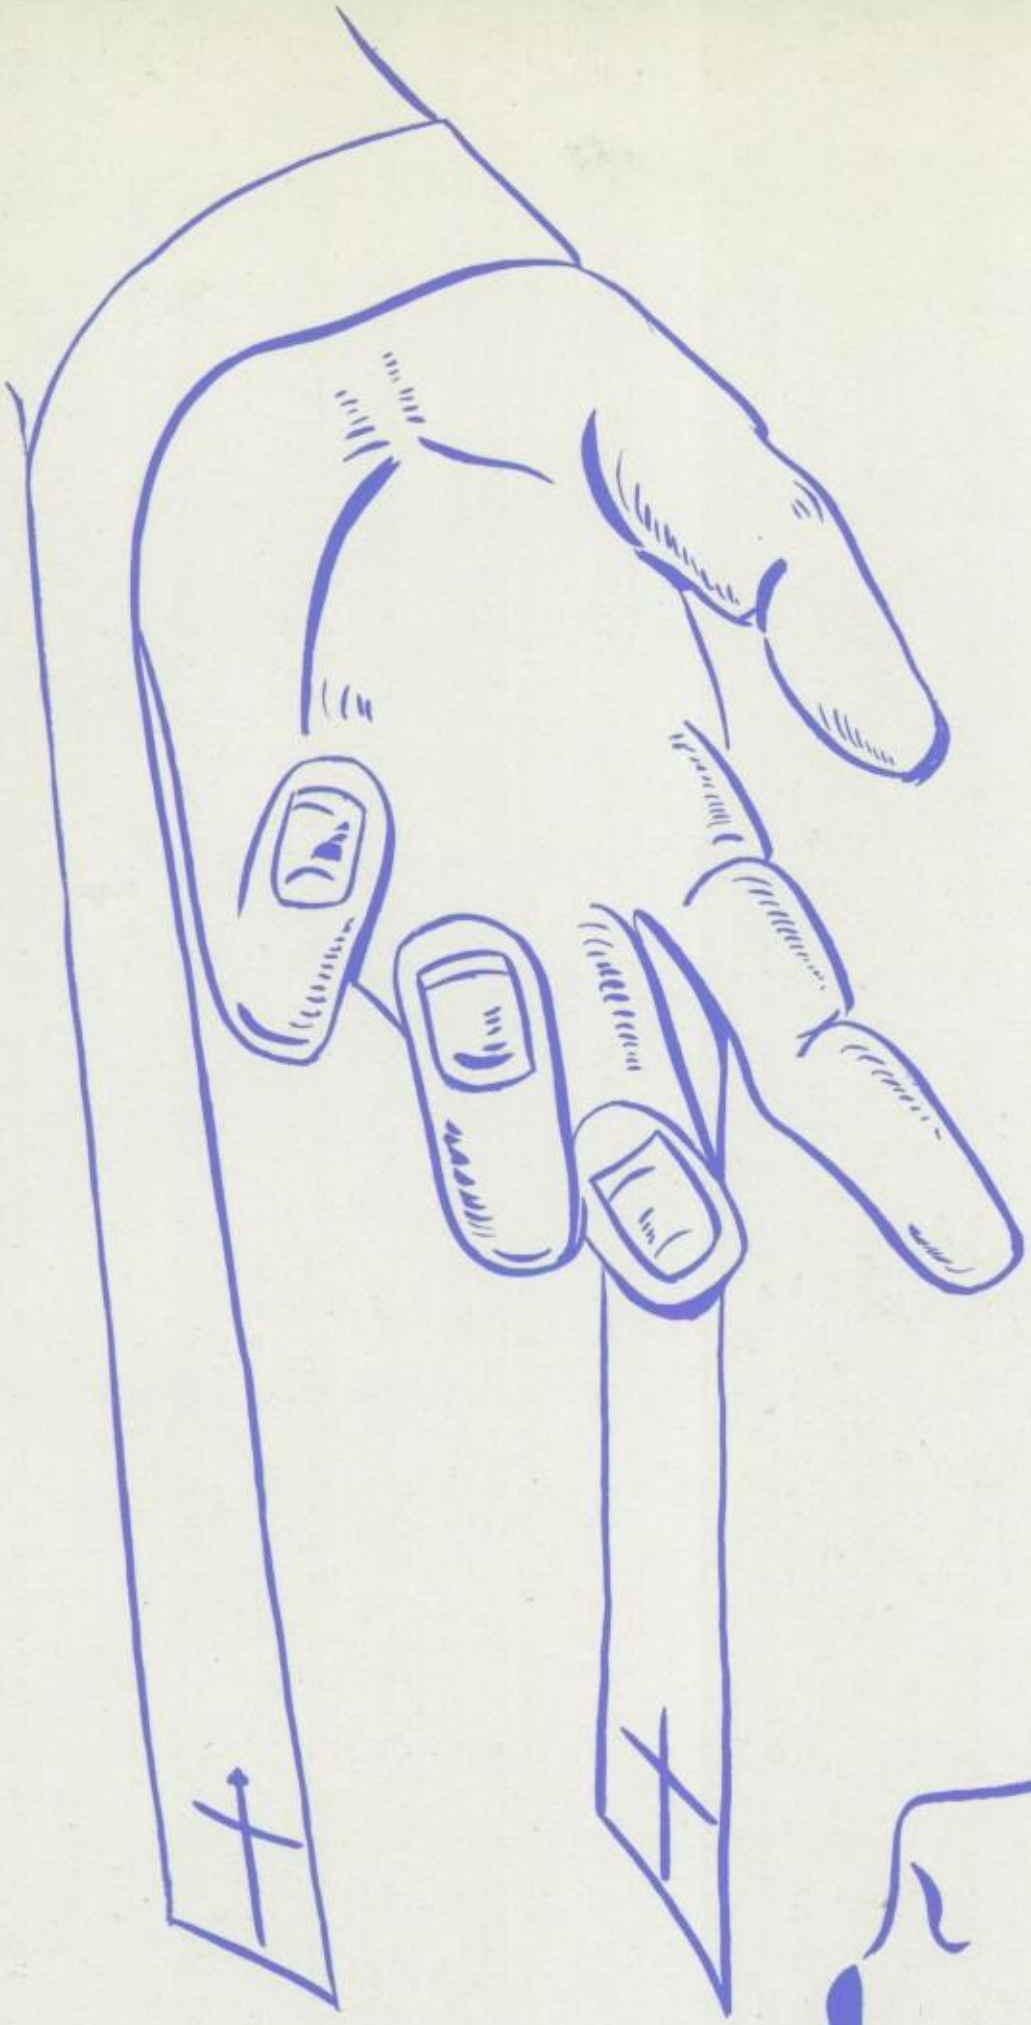
Seton High School strives to set us in a spiritual groove of life and makes the angelic characteristics shine forth more brightly in us, her children.

The mental and physical processes of prayer, study and recreation should outline our pattern of living.

Every soul is an artist, created to fashion a lifetime worthy to be presented to the perfect Artist on Judgment Day.

With every breath we enjoy, every pulse beat, we are in communion with the Creator, Who is the Source of all light. Light gives us color as the Creator gives us Purpose for the art of being.

The pages of the 1959-1960 Seton Memories reflect the art of living achieved by Setonians, under the guidance of the Holy Spirit.



THE CHURCH GUIDES US IN THE ART OF LIVING

DEDICATION

During her years in the dedicated service of God, Sister Grace Miriam has spent most of her community life in the service of Seton. She first came as a teacher in 1945, and returned again in September of 1954 to become principal of Seton High School.

Sister has been the spiritual mother of countless Setonians, the leader of Seton's faculty, and God's tool in making the $2 million dream of a new Seton, a reality.

God has used Sister for His works, and she has humbly co-operated with His grace. . . . How is it possible that one woman could know and care about so many girls? . . . How is it possible that she never forgets to praise and thank those who serve Seton?

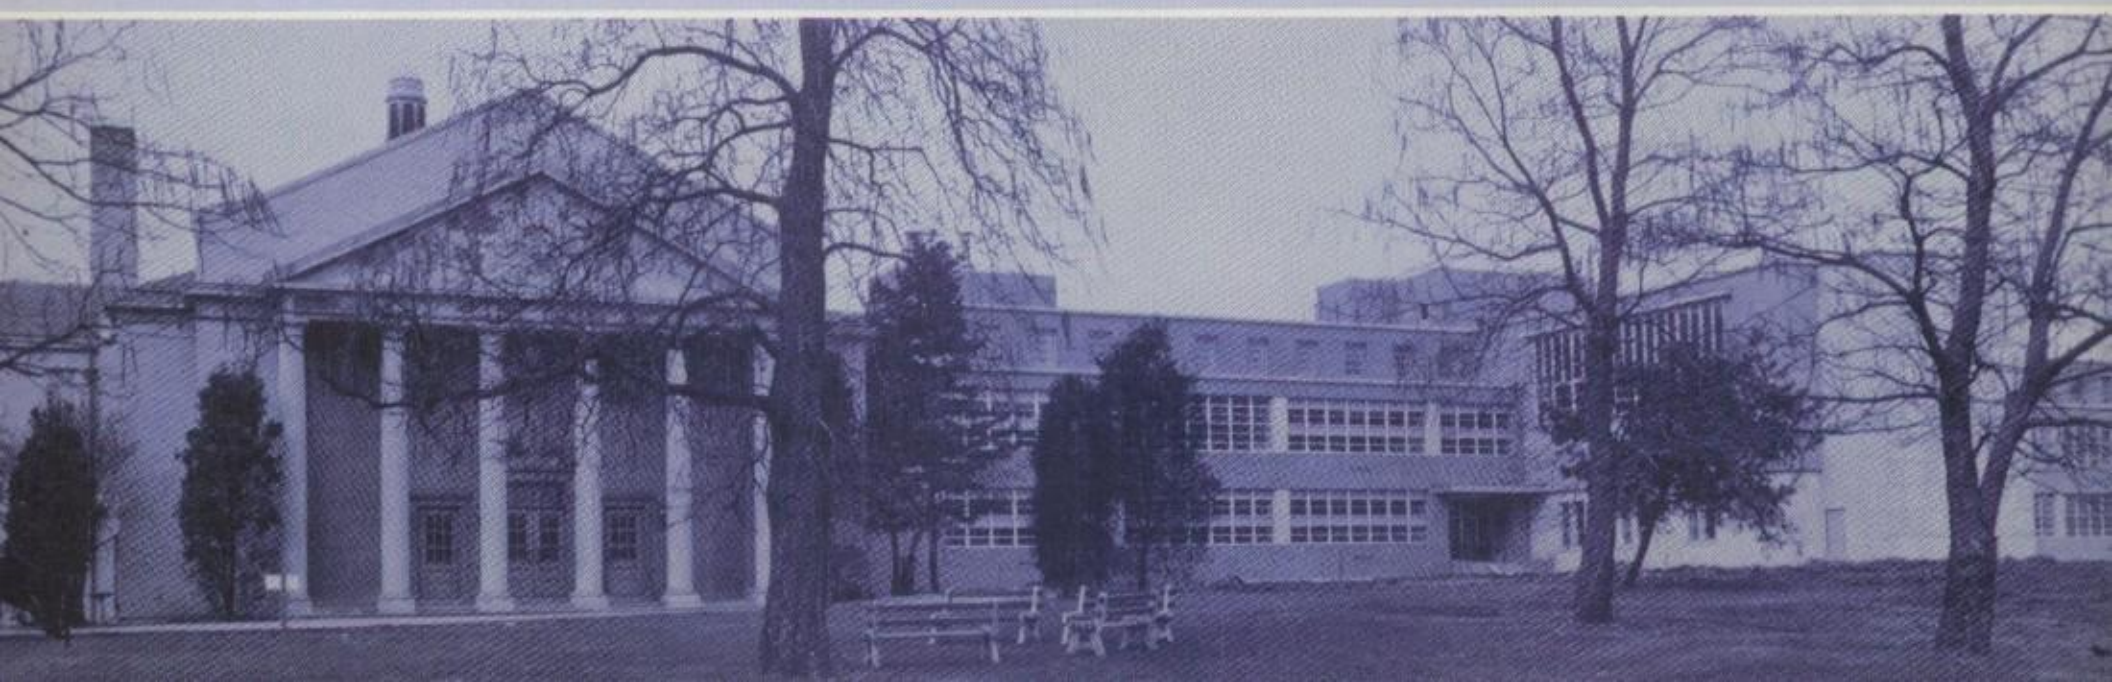
. . . How is it possible that one woman could direct and oversee the construction of Seton so perfectly, from the foundation to the final furnishings?

. . . How is it possible that one woman can always be at the exact place where God's authority is needed?

. . . How is it possible that one woman can understand and provide for the needs of all, acting so wisely for the common good?

The names of Seton and Sister Grace Miriam are synonymous. Sister came to Seton at a crucial time in its history, a time that called for complete generosity of mind and heart. She, who knew the old Seton and its spirit, was sent here by God for the delicate transplanting of the old Seton spirit into its new foundation. Setonians need Seton's spirit to cling to and cherish. Sister knew this and dedicated her service to this cause.

And so, every Setonian who thrills to the comradeship and joy of Seton's spirit gratefully dedicates the 1960 Seton Memories to the first lady of Seton, Sister Grace Miriam.



FIRST LADY OF SETON

Wherever Setonians are, there, too, is Seton's Principal, Sister Grace Miriam. Always ready to encourage and cooperate, Sister's presence makes every Setonian aware of Sister's individual interest. From left: Sister Grace Miriam, Mother Mary Romana, former Mother General; and Sister Rosarita, former Seton principal.

A DAY OF

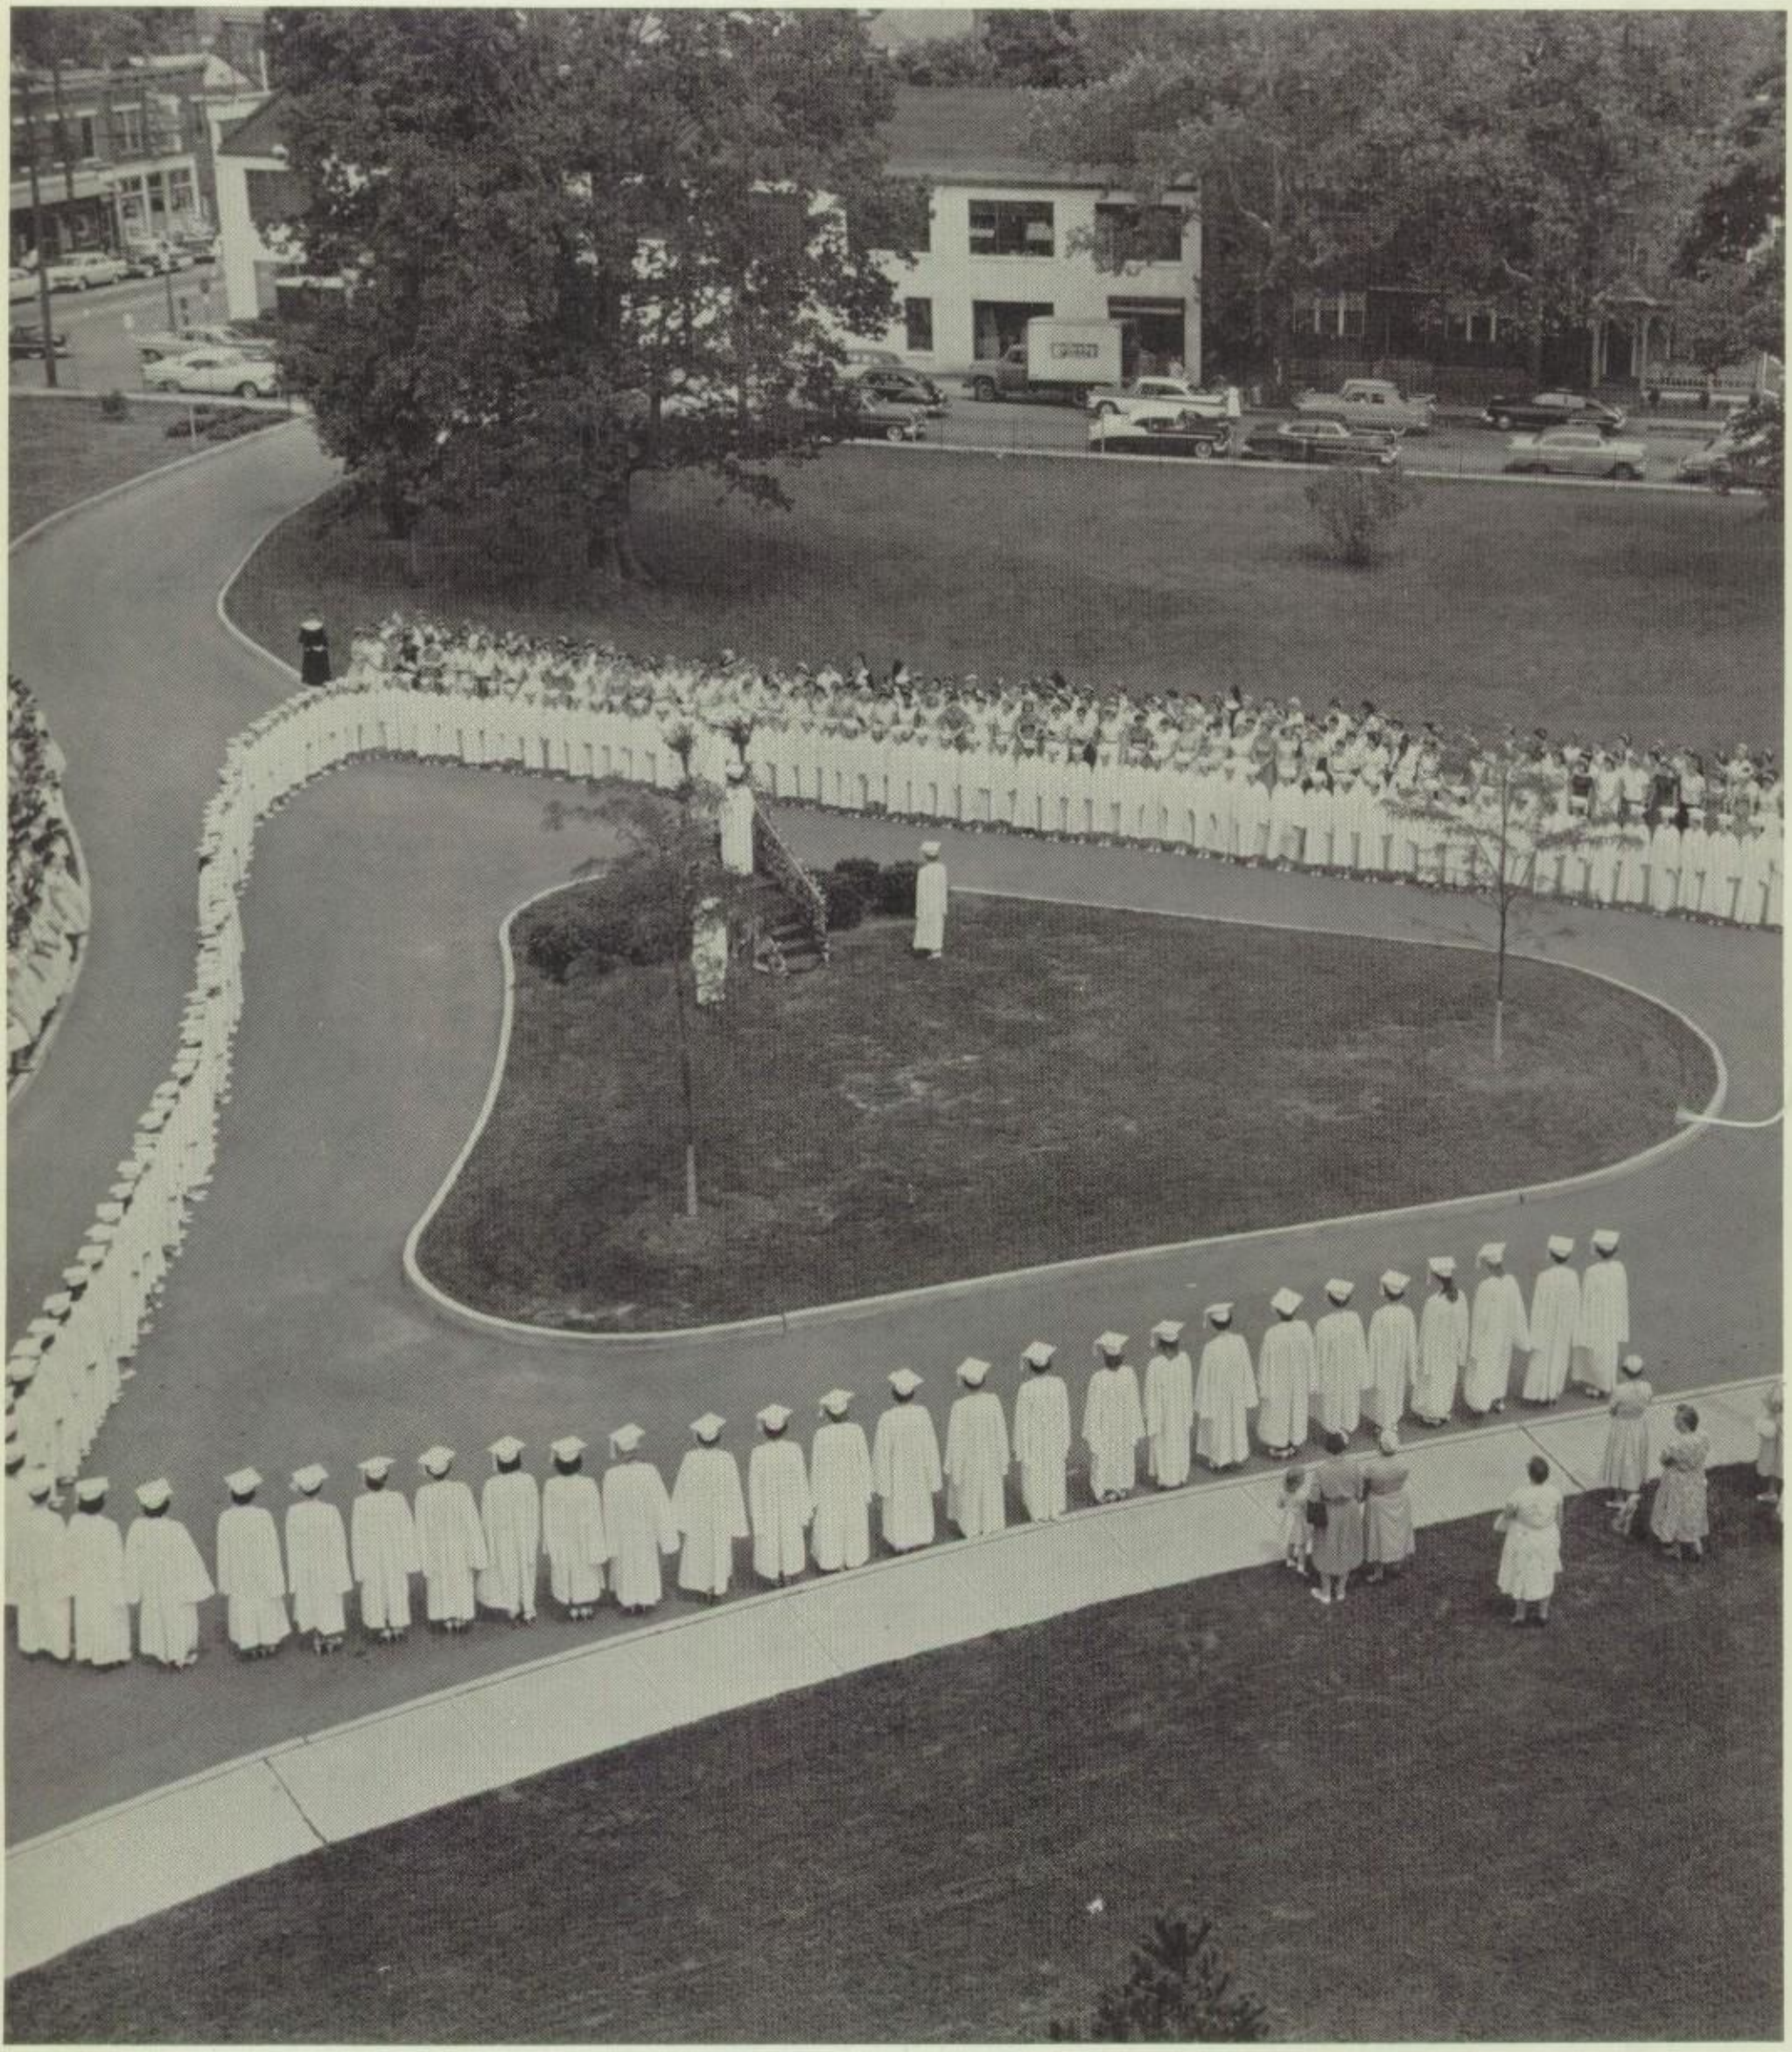
TRIBUTE TO OUR PATRONESS

In a spirit of love and devotion, we paid tribute to our patroness. Honored by the presence of Mother Mary Omer, Mother General of the Sisters of Charity, we re-enacted scenes from Mother Seton's life and prepared displays depicting the works of her daughters. As the day closed, we were filled with increased zeal to help the cause of Mother Seton's Canonization by our prayers, studies, and sacrifices.

Mother Mary Omer, Mother General, and Sister Marie Emmanuel, Faculty moderator of the Mother Seton League.

HERE, AT YOUR FEET,
FAITHFUL WE MEET . . .



The hands of the world folded in prayer give glory to God and to His Mother, and Setonians at May Crowning offer their tribute to the Blessed Virgin on this, her day.

When the day is over, Setonians continue to remember and cherish their ideal of a Christian woman, Our Lady. She, above all others, has learned from her Son the Art of Living.

SETON WAITS IN ANTICIPATION

As Setonians enter a bright new school year, our art of living unfolds, and, filled with the prospect of hard work, a whirl of social activities, and a search for new friends, we join in the excitement of those first days. Gradually this chaos ends and the routine of school work begins.

A Setonian's active hours at Seton soon become the center of her day. She develops a strong sense of loyalty and love not only for her school, but also for her fellow classmates. Most important of all, a Setonian begins to realize the nearness of Religion in her daily life. She aims for a definite set of principles and is always ready to defend them as her rule for life. With these principles to guide her, her living becomes an art . . . the art of searching for and finding God.

The qualities of a true Setonian are initiative and perseverance: initiative to try and perseverance to win.

A Setonian is aware of her goal in life and with courage rises above the obstacles in her search for eternal happiness and reward.

A typical Setonian on book day before the new school year, is Junior, Mary Sauer.

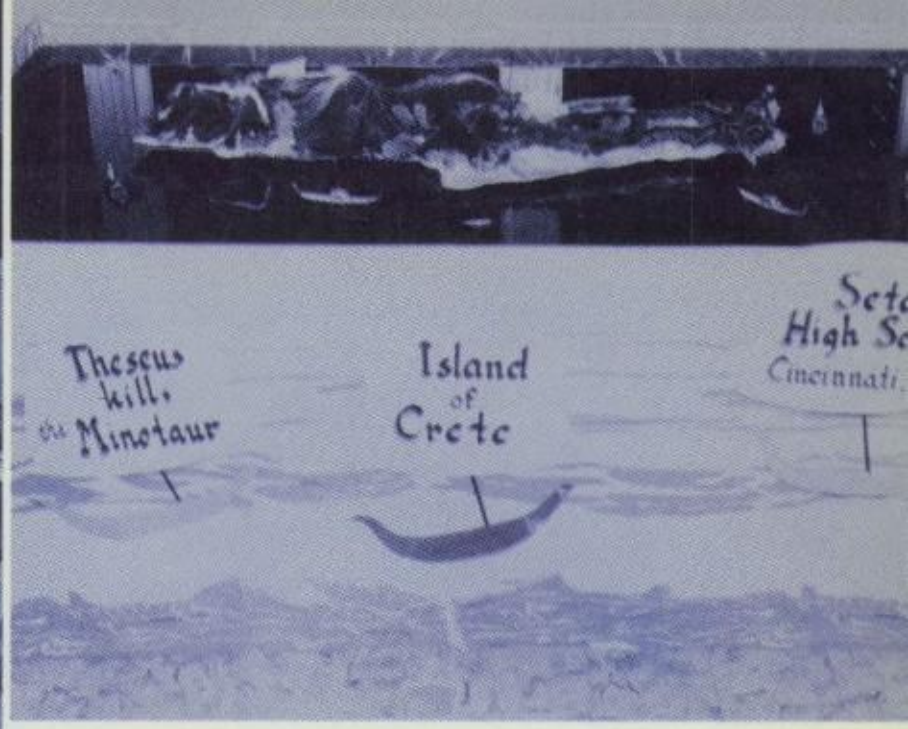
Setting a Parisian atmosphere, members of "Le Cercle Francais" displayed projects during Language Week.

Stellae Latinae, a Latin game, was the project entered by a group of Freshmen at the J.C.L. Convention.

ART EXPRESSED IN

On April 19, Seton opened its doors wide as Latin students gathered for the annual Roman Banquet. Before the banquet, students viewed the movie, "Helen of Troy." A catering service provided the food and the Juniors presented the entertainment, "An Evening With Cicero." Doctor Harkins, head of the Classical Language Department of Xavier University, spoke to the students on the legends of Greece and Rome.

Pam Gray played the part of Cicero; Brenda Hayworth, that of Cataline.

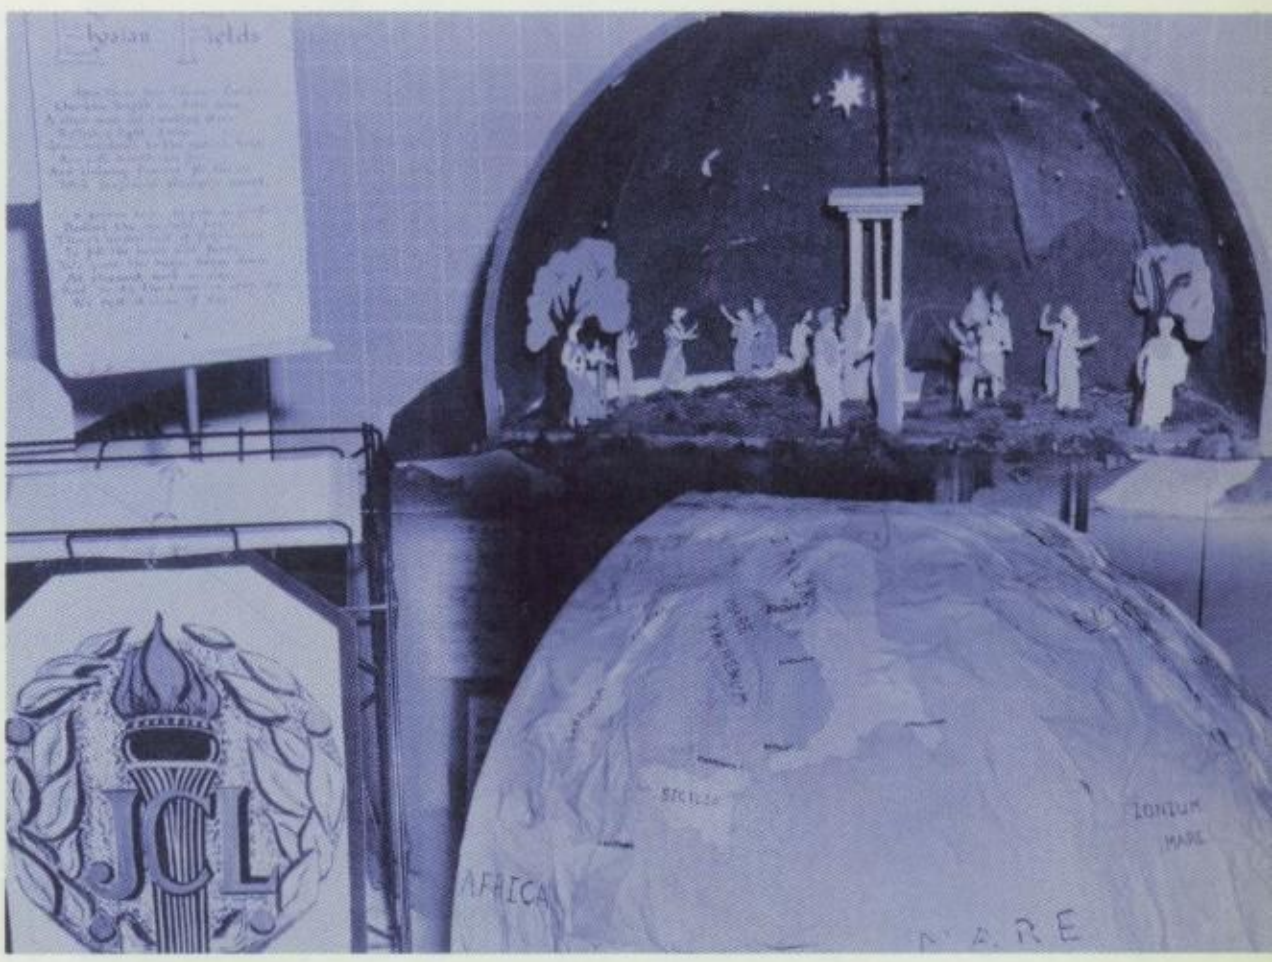


Spanish students exhibited their talent during Language Week with their projects on Spanish dress and culture.

On April 10, Seton again swept the Ohio J.C.L. Convention and carried off trophies for the membership drive and projects, and was represented with the highest attendance.

The projects were: Sophomores, the gateway to Vatican City; Freshmen and Sophomores, Island of Crete; Juniors and Seniors, Elysian Fields.

LANGUAGE



. . . THE ART OF ENJOYMENT

With the fragrant smell of perfume and flowers lingering behind them, Setonians left their homes with a flurry of gowns and arrived at the Prom in high spirits. This was it. The night which they had talked of for so long.

Casting a spell of happiness and humor, the eyes of Setonians shone with the brightness of the night.

And, when, at last, it was finally over and they had fallen into bed, exhausted but satisfied, they knew they would remember this as their night, a night all to themselves . . . forever theirs, in a "Rainbow of Dreams."

Capturing the hearts of all, Dramatic students, under the direction of Sister Ancilla Marie, presented James M. Barrie's lovable comedy, "Quality Street," on April 3, 4, and 5.

Anna Wells, Diane Holthaus, Judy Herrmann, and Wini Bruening add finishing touches to the centerpiece.

Betty Willman and Irma Pohlman admire dresses made by Judy Berndsen and Mary Ann Flick.

One of the greatest arts on earth is that of homemaking. And Setonians busy themselves in the new Home Ec area, preparing for the day when they will have homes of their own. The area has been remodeled into modern rooms and here Setonians learn the fundamentals of good homemaking, personal and family relationships, clothing construction, meal planning, home nursing, baby care, and home building.

On the evening of May 24, Seton's annual recital of music students was held. One of the numbers included in the program was a violin ensemble playing "Rendezvous."

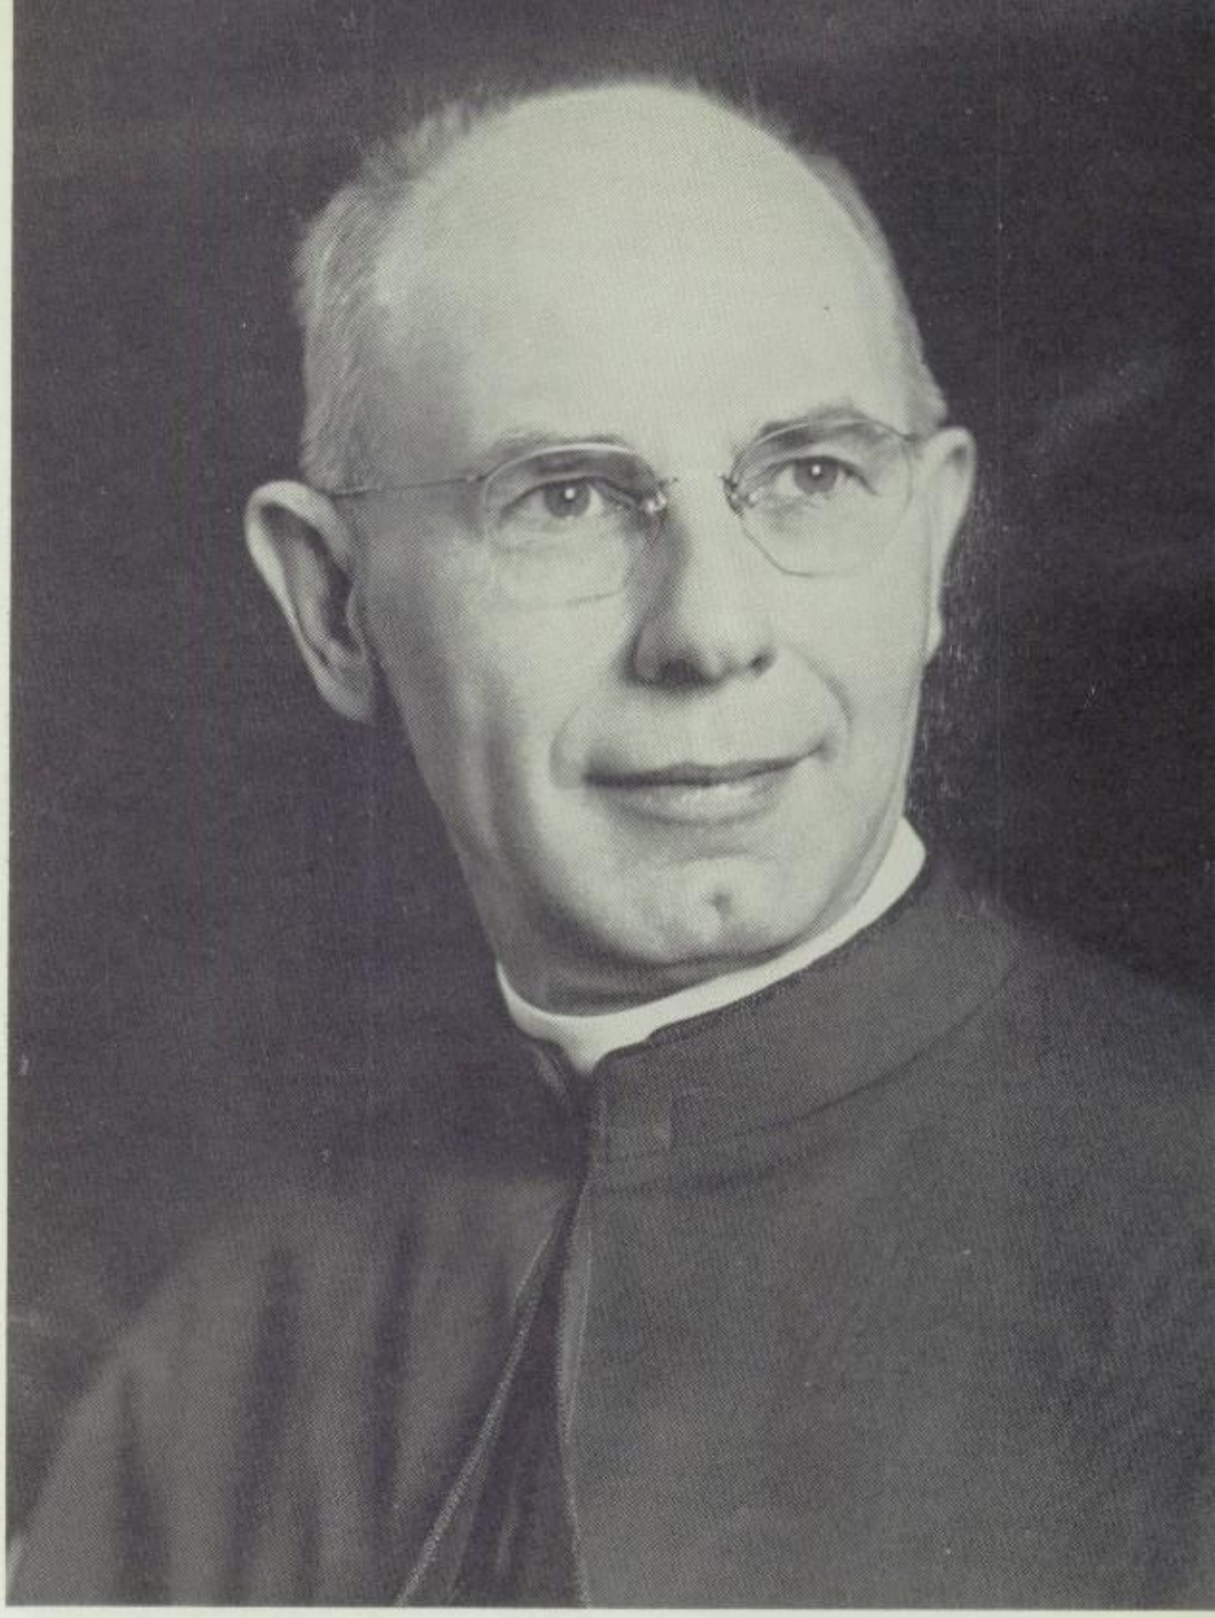
GOD'S GENTLEMAN—FIRST CITIZEN OF OHIO

Living is an art. We are the brushes that paint the picture of life. The Most Reverend Karl J. Alter, Archbishop of Cincinnati, is a guiding hand, helping us choose the colors—the royal purple of sacrifice, the gentle green of patience, the cheery yellow of friendliness, and the flaming red of love—that will enable us to create masterpieces in the eyes of God.

RELIGIOUS LEADERS

Rt. Rev. Msgr. Carl J. Ryan adds a spirit of prayer, work and sacrifice, besides a few free days now and then, to Seton life through his archdiocesan directives.

In this way he fulfills his duty as superintendent of Catholic schools in the archdiocese of greater Cincinnati and gives Setonians a personal contact with him.



Father Donald Huebner, with his familiar smile, adds a spirit of prayer and happiness to Seton life.

Setonians seeking serious advice on a personal problem, or those looking for a good laugh, usually turn to Father, the friend and counselor of each girl.

IN MEMORIAM . . .

Among Seton's memories will remain a special place for Rt. Rev. Msgr. R. Marcellus Wagner, V.G.P.A. Before his unexpected death last October, Monsignor was pastor of St. Lawrence Parish and the spiritual father of many Setonians. Enthusiastically he participated in the activities of Seton's Board of Pastors.

Seton offers to him a tribute, one of love and deep thanksgiving, because he has shown us that although all men must live, knowing how is an art.

OUR PASTORS

Among the many people to whom we owe a great debt of gratitude are our pastors. These spiritual leader and examples of the true art of living have made it possible for us to attend Seton.

Setonians say thank you, Fathers, to you who made it possible for us to attend Seton through your support and to you who have generously aided us when we chose Seton High School. Thank you again, Fathers, for the opportunity you have given us . . . the privilege of a Catholic education . . . and for the guidance you have shared unselfishly with us.

OUR PRIESTS

Understandingly, the priests were always there, to help us untangle our problems, no matter how insignificant they seemed. Because they realized fully that our youthful ideas would determine our philosophy in later life, they were most generous with their guidance. Through these efforts, our priests have given us the truths that form a Catholic way of living.

'Niece of Yours, Sir'

The heart of every American citizen is overflowing with love and pride for Elizabeth Ann Bayley Seton, foundress of the Sisters of Charity in the United States. We have stormed heaven petitioning a reward for her life of virtue and charity toward mankind.

Mother Seton has done her work well; she is pleasing in the sight of God and He has smiled graciously upon her.

In answer to the question: "Niece of yours?" America is proud to reply: "Yes, she is one of us!"

As we assembled in the auditorium on the first day of school and heard the pleasant but unfamiliar sound of the word "Seniors" ring in our ears, we realized that our dream had come true and we were the Senior Class, the heart of Seton High School. Recalling our three happy years, we resolved to repay Seton this year, and always, by living up to her standards of charity, cooperation, and loyalty.

The vastness and greatness of this school were foremost in our young minds when we entered the halls of Seton as timid Freshmen. Adjusting to the busy schedule, frantically groping for the correct locker combination, donning the blue and white of Seton's wardrobe . . . all of these slowly but surely turned our dream of becoming Setonians into a reality. We, Freshies, began to be a familiar part of Seton's family life.

With a year's experience and memories behind us, we returned as enthusiastic Sophomores, privileged to be a part of the first student body to bring into the halls the living spirit of Seton . . . love and cooperation. We were determined to uphold the worthy traditions of the classes which preceded us.

The fulfillment of this desire brought with it the completion of our second wonderful year at Seton, a year during which we came one step closer to understanding the Art of Living as Setonians.

When we returned to Seton in our Junior year we finally felt that we were "old hands" at the art of being Setonians. Our third year of high school was a Seton-like year, for during that time we matured in every phase of living. Through the sisterly encouragement of the Seniors we attempted to be exemplars of the Seton Spirit, eager to don the yoke of leadership which would be handed down to us at the commencement exercises in June.

"We are the Seniors . . ." echoed through the air as energetic Setonians loaded boxes of papers and magazines on their respective trucks.

Looking at the trucks slowly filling to the brim, we wondered, "Will we win?" Never ones to break tradition, we united, determined to surmount all obstacles which cluttered the road to victory, namely, the Juniors, Sophomores, and Freshmen.

Arriving at school the following day, we eagerly waited for the results to issue forth from Paul the P.A. "Tradition held true as the Seniors came through."

How will we ever forget that day before our last Christmas at Seton? A flurry of backstage activity, nervous whisperings and costumes that wouldn't fit at the last minute . . . these and so many more things we will remember. Our Senior Prom will always remain imprinted in our hearts. We can all remember the excitement before the beginning of the Graduation Exercises. There was exaggerated laughter, because tears were close. An edge of sadness, perhaps regret, slightly dulled the happiness of "this night." As we slipped into those white gowns, and gently placed our caps upon our heads, our mood suddenly conformed to the solemn occasion. Only seconds passed before we found ourselves moving rather hesitantly to form the procession. And there we were, stepping tearfully to the music of "Pomp and Circumstance." Emotions were mixed on Graduation Night. There was sorrow because our class would follow many different paths. There was happiness, because we felt that at last we had "grown up." Those "hallowed halls" that have for decades housed Setonians have been our home for the past year. Knowing that we were to leave Immaculata naturally prompted a twinge of sadness. It seemed that there would be left behind us so many happy memories. But instead, our year here at Seton has given us many other memories. Now, the memories of the old and the new are blended into priceless remembrances. We expected a feeling of loss at leaving our old school. However, we found in the friendliness of Seton a warm welcome and a happy home.

My dear Friends:-

I am honored by your invitation to include a letter of mine in your year book, which I accept as a mirror receives light, namely, to pass the honor and the glory thereof back again to Our Divine Lord Whom I have the honor to serve.

May this invitation, which was inspired by your faith, manifest itself throughout your lives. By faith, you overcome the evil in the world; by charity, you suppress hate; by fortitude and courage, you bear witness to the Truth.

Wishing you every blessing, and assuring you of my prayers, I am

Faithfully yours in Christ,

TOWARD UNITY AND HAPPINESS

Realizing that unity is of paramount importance in maintaining happiness at Seton, the Student Council works to strengthen this bond and encourages a spirit of genuine friendliness. At the beginning of the school year, the Student Council officers urged Setonians to make their school the "best" in every way, and established for them a motto to guide their actions —"every Setonian appreciates, rates, and co-operates."

Mary Lee Schaefer, president, oversees all activities of the school and, with the help of the other officers, leads the student body toward its goal of unity.

Peggy Hilvert, first vice president, supervises the cafeteria, advocating neatness and good behavior during the lunch periods. Kathy Geers, secretary, is in charge of the Student Council office and the lost and found.

Marcia Munninghoff, second vice president, and Margie Vogelsang, treasurer, are responsible for publishing the "Student Special." This weekly bulletin informs students of the activities scheduled for each organization.

ONWARD FOR CHRIST AND SETON

"Whatever you do unto these, the least of My brethren . . ." With these words as their incentive, Mother Seton League members serve Christ through charitable works, thus following in the steps of Mother Seton.

In the foreground are Barbara Davis and Judy Shorten, co-prefects.

Striving to change the materialistic outlook of the world, Seton juniors and seniors have organized a unit of the Young Christian Students, under the direction of Sister Rose Marie, Sister Mark, and Sister Marianna.

Maintaining neatness and a well-kept look at Seton is the primary purpose of the Green Circle. Sister Grace Miriam, moderator, keeps all interested members both busy and happy with activities which range from chair dusting to floor washing.

1809  1829  1959

"A Song of Charity" in honor of Venerable Mother Seton and her Sisters of Charity was given by Setonians as a tribute of the sesquicentennial of the founding of the Charity Order in the United States and the one-hundred and thirtieth anniversary of the arrival of the first Sisters of Charity in Cincinnati.

Setting the stage and the mood for the Pageant, the Winds, Victoria Braddick, Barbara Martin, Judith Borgmann, Deborah Powell, Lynn Ruwe, introduced each sequence by depicting the passing of time.

Elizabeth and William Seton waltz to a tune of happiness on their wedding day. Portraying Elizabeth, Gayle Mueller; William, Doris Gerke.

Backstage excitement, curtain up and it's time to go on. This is just a part of being a member of the St. Genesius Drama Guild. This year, behind the scenes, one finds that speech classes, ballet and modern dance lessons have been added to the list of activities.

Seniors delighted the student body with their presentation of Rudolph, Santa Claus and his helpers in the traditional Christmas play.

Kathleen Fox, a member of the speech class, shows her classmates that even the various processes of diapering a baby can make a delightful talk.

Jolly smiles and michievous eyes expressed the spirit of the Senior Class Play. Representing Santa's helpers were Dorothy Buhrmann, Theresa Caliguri, and Phyllis Cipriani.

ST. GENESIUS DRAMA GUILD

CLUBS = ACTION

Red Cross representatives Linda Root, Michele Martin, Nancy Eisele and Jo Ann Herrmann prepare and distribute packages overseas, trying to cultivate the "Appreciation of Living" into the hearts of the desolate and hungry.

Through the efforts of officers (left to right) Janet Feld, Kathleen Tracey, Rita Jo Reis, and Patricia Martini the Parish Council has urged monthly attendance of Setonians at their prospective parish churches.

Safety Council was founded for the well-being of every member of the Seton family. Representatives include (standing) Victoria Braddick, Brenda Hayworth, Doris Gerke; (seated) Susan Elsaesser, Pamela Gray, Kathleen Geers; (kneeling) Mary Ellen Mentrup, Roberta Weigel, Emily Graber.

SOCIAL WHIRL

UNDER MARY'S CARE

No matter where we are Mary is always with us as our protector and companion. As Setonians we have consecrated ourselves to her and will always follow in her footsteps through our busy days at school and home.

While exhausted dads watched from the sidelines, daughters bunny-hopped to the music of Will Hauser's Orchestra at the annual Dad-Daughter Dance.

The finishing touches are put on G.A.A. posters by officers (standing) Mary Jean Beck, treasurer; Barbara Doyle, recording secretary; Barbara Stock, president; Judith Metz, vice president; Ann Dittleberger, corresponding secretary; and managers (seated) Janice Luebbe, Evelyn Schratt, Joan Berndsen, Jeanne Wirmel, Lorayne Gerber, and Carol Glaser.

Leading the DePorres Hawks onward were Judith Burnett, Alberta Muldrow, Linda Jackson, Beverly Baker, Phyllis Spaulding, Joyce Walker.

MODERN CHALLENGES

While interesting Setonians in subjects which are of paramount importance in the modern world, the science, math and world affairs clubs show how God constantly guides us through its problems.

LA LENGUA! LINGUA! LA LANGUE!

Striving to keep alive the torch of classical civilization in the modern world, language students delve into different constructions and translations of French, Latin and Spanish in order to expose and discover the beauty of God's creations expressed in the wonders of language.

WORD WORKERS

Check, recheck, and check again. Journalism students have learned accuracy is the key word to a successful yearbook and paper. With knowledge of layouts, cropping and copy reading, students feel ready to tackle the printing industry.

MUSIC MAKERS

Because the Freshman Glee Club is so large there are two groups for rehearsals. Officers for both are (left, top to bottom) Judith Autenreib, Ann Frohn, Mary Ann Contadino, Karen Doepker; (right, top to bottom) Lynne Rowe, Judith Wippel, Patricia Morris, Carolyn Miller.

Under the direction of Dr. Vincent A. Orlando, pictured with the Senior Glee Club and the Orchestra, and with the help of Sister Patricia and Sister Helen Elizabeth, three choral groups and the school orchestra had a successful season.

KEYNOTES OF LIFE

Exploring the realms of English literature members of the English IV class take part in a spirited discussion of distinctions between colloquial and standard English usage in news magazines.

The future homemakers of tomorrow are being trained in the various phases of homemaking as demonstrated by (left to right) Marlene Guck, Deanna Day, Nancy Riehle, and Sandra Mormile. A few of the skills depicted are clothing construction, child care, and meal planning.

To develop the attitudes and qualities of mind and heart necessary for the modern Catholic woman, religion teachers emphasize not only the fundamental truths of Catholicism, but also the art of becoming a saint.

AMDG
US

To enable the underclassmen to experience as nearly as possible, the peace and graces of a closed retreat, retreat days were divided into class groupings so that each class had its own retreat. To further emphasize this idea, simultaneous retreats were conducted for each class by Fathers Curt and Lenard, O.F.M.

Seniors made a closed retreat at the convent of Mary Reparatrix.

A molding of our minds and hearts toward a greater love of the Sacred Heart of Jesus, was the theme of the enthronement ceremony conducted by Father Jahn the First Friday of November.

The real enthronement, according to Father, consisted not merely in the display of the pictures of the Sacred Heart, but in establishing Him as King of Our Hearts.

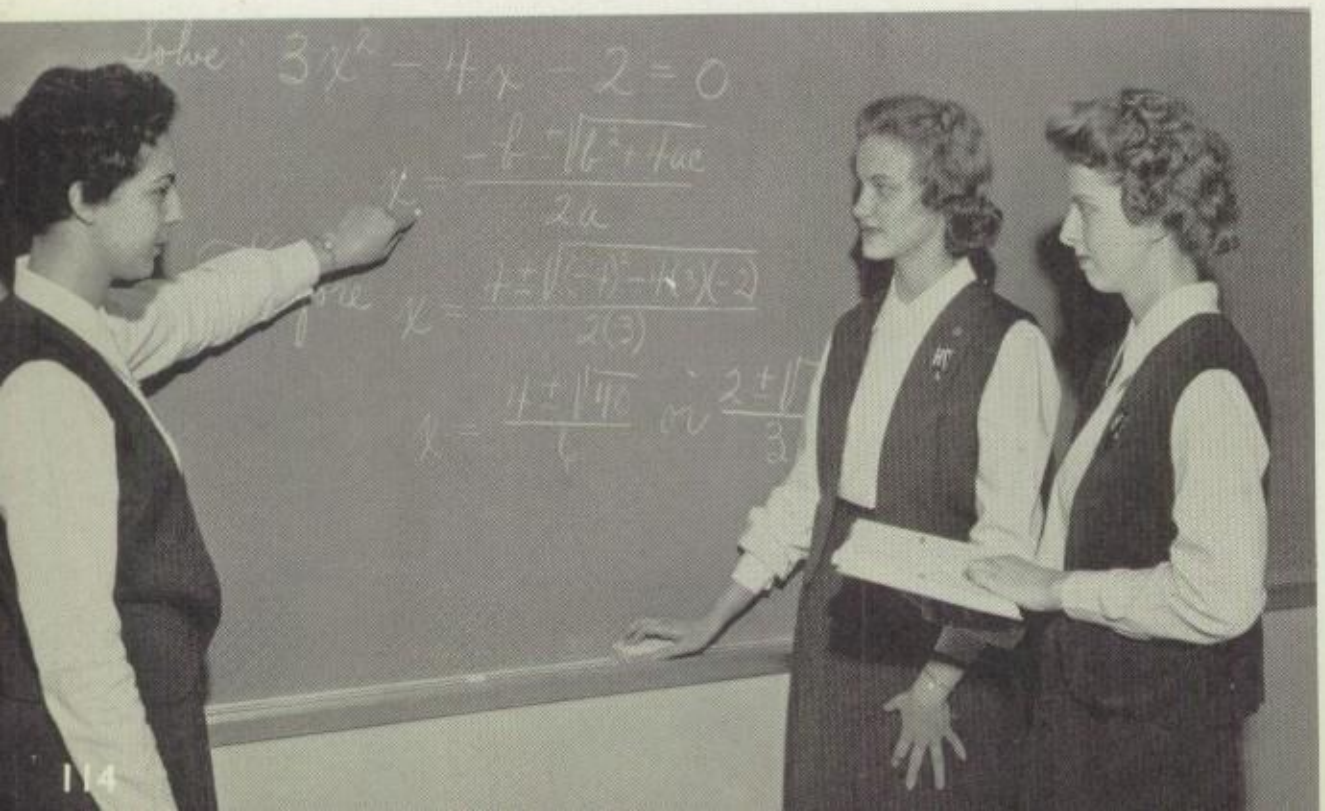
Proving geometrical figures holds the class' attention.

The sine graph is conducted by Carol Deters and Jean Zimmerman in trigonometry class.

HELPMATE OF SCIENCE

In this world of science one finds that mathematics is the foundation. Math teachers realize that girls who wish to find their place in business must develop quick thinking with numbers.

"Mathematics is the key and applied Mathematics is the tool wherewith Man conquers the Universe." (Basic Mathematics by William Betz)



Pat Kaman explains the solution of a formula by an equation to Joanne Velten and Jeanette Huebener.

Maureen Menninger, Phyllis Herbort, and Charlene Minges view paramecium specimens through the microscope.

SCIENTISTS . . .

The odor issuing from the biology lab could mean that the freshmen were cutting up Wiggily Worm again. And whenever the aroma of rotten eggs permeates the building, everybody knows that the chemistry class experimented with sulphur. And when there is no odor that's a good indication that all's well in the physics lab.

Judith Guttadauro, Jo Ann Gillming, Patricia Hoffman, Joan Condron and Evelyn Schratt demonstrate measuring weights in one of their lab classes.

IMMACULATA

Spending their senior year separated from the familiar halls of Immaculata, twenty-three students have continued their courses in intensified study of business skills and knowledge, under the guidance of Sister Lucy Ignatia, their teacher and school principal.

SETONIANS 'N' BUSINESS

Teaching fingers to dance nimbly over typewriter keys, balancing books, learning to take and transcribe shorthand, manipulating business machines —developing all these skills, under the efficient guidance of the business teachers, enables Setonians to step well-prepared into the field of business.

Junior typing students practice to achieve speed and accuracy.

Second year shorthand students practice a modern version of hieroglyphics.

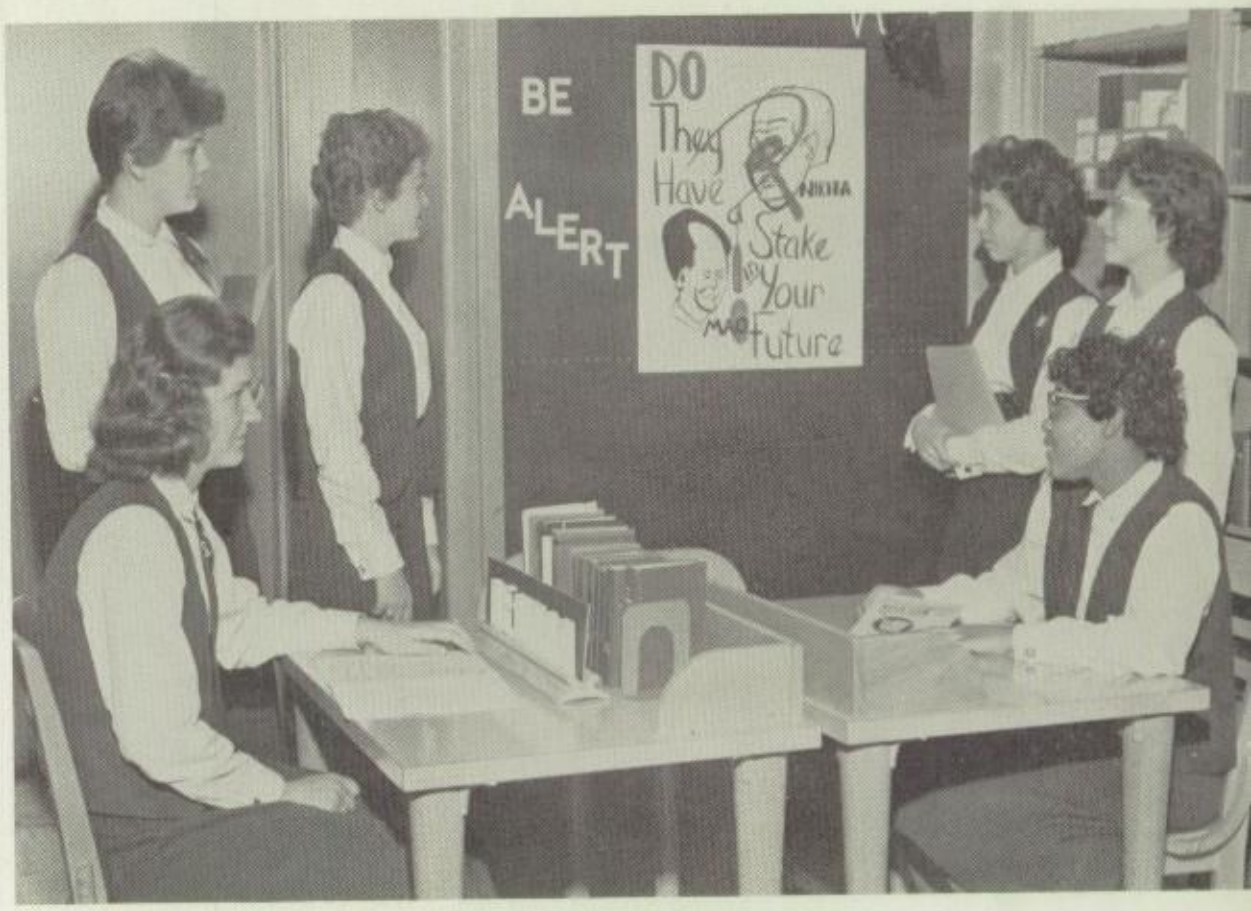
GLIMPSES INTO SOCIAL STUDIES

Seniors are faced with the problems of today's society, and seek possible solutions to them through their course in sociology. They are given Christian concepts, to give back to others, in a Christian way of life.

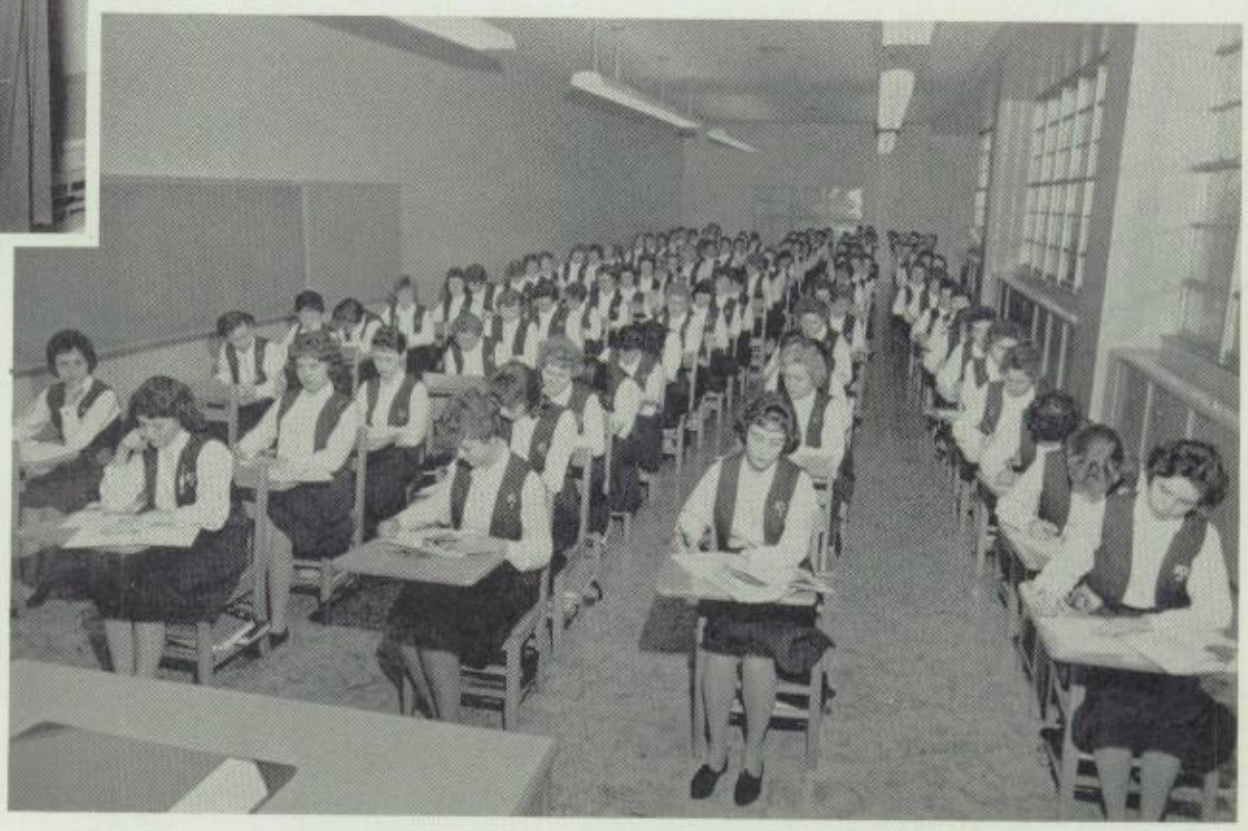


American history students come to a better understanding and love of their country, through the study of its history—America as it was at the beginning and the America of today.

The very beginnings of civilization are brought to light and live again, as students discover the history of the past through their world history classes.

SETON AIDS IN MIND AND HEART

Seton's library opens to its students corners of knowledge to aid in their class work. It also becomes a source of cultural entertainment through the guidance of Miss Mary Murray and Sister Gabriel.



A spirit of study and an air of concentration prevails in the atmosphere visited by every Setonian during her study periods.

Each Setonian always has the opportunity to lighten the burden of any problem she may have. A problem to her is a problem to Seton until it is solved through the help she receives from our counselor, Miss Keininger.

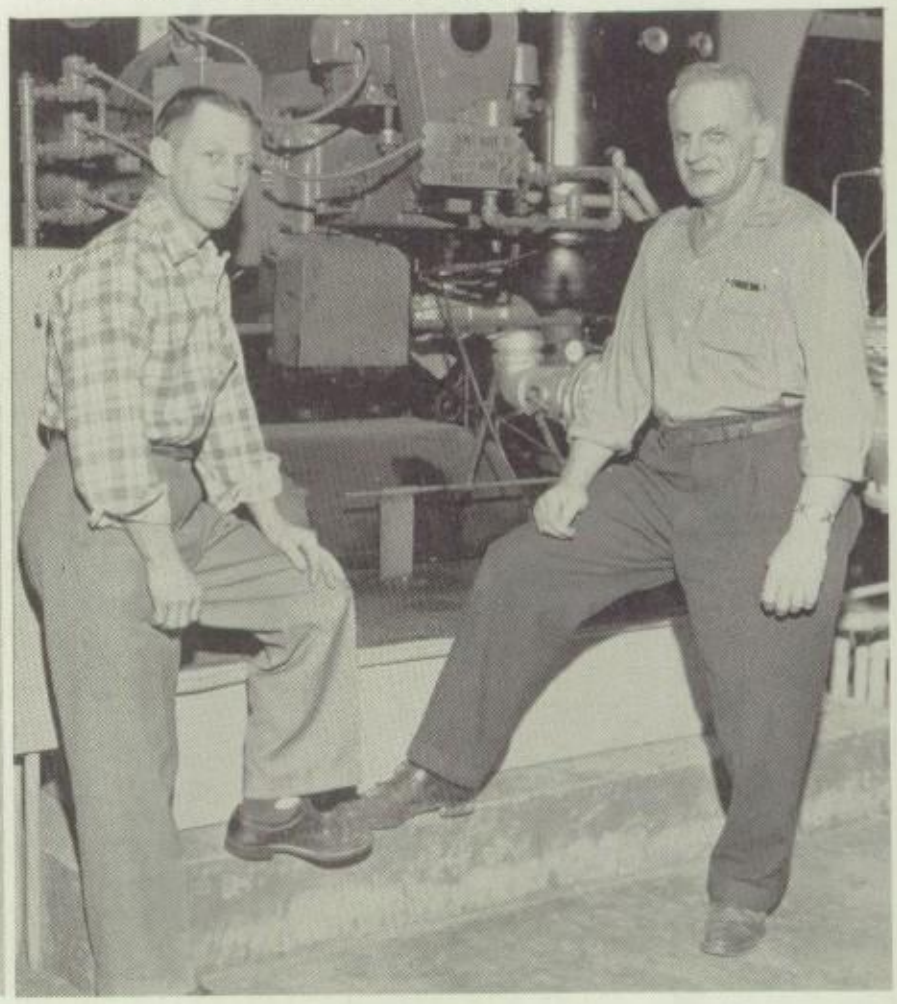
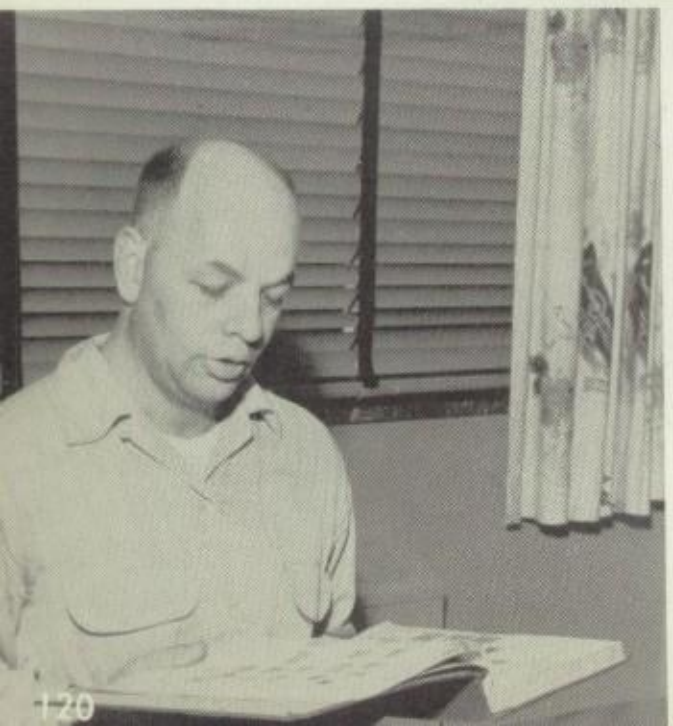
SETON BOOSTERS

A competent worker and helper at Seton is Carrie (Mrs. Edward Simmons).

Keeping Seton in tip-top shape are handymen, Mr. Norman Counts and Mr. Albert Brauch.



Helping Messrs. Counts and Brauch is Mr. Joseph Bestfelt.



Daily preparing and planning nutritious meals for Setonians are (left to right) Alma Foell, manager, Catherine Klare, Rita Ausdenmore, Lois Pyle, Catherine Brauch, Elizabeth Ott. Absent when picture was taken were Mabel Weaver and Howard Blackwell.

At last it's finished! Each glorious memory of this past year has been recorded in our yearbook of 1960 and the last page has been tucked securely in place. With glowing hearts we kneel before the altar of Our Blessed Lord to offer to Him this, our Seton Memories, as a token of love and appreciation to Him and to our beloved school.

Hand in hand they have guided us through another turbulent year of life, striving to manifest the true beauty of living in close union with our Blessed Lord, leading us onward toward our eternal destination, where the Divine Artist has designed for us a masterpiece of perfection —life with Him for all eternity.
